HOME POLITICS

MRS. MATTISON B. JONES GIVES STRONG ADDRESS AT TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

"Politics as Applied to the Home" was the subject of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones' address at the Tuesday Afternoon club yesterday. The speaker said that women should realize that all political reforms should work for the betterment of conditions which affect directly or indirectly the home. That should lead them to see also that efficient voting is the only effective factor in rendering politics moral. It is now recognized that women are making excellent use of their rights as voters; but they still have much to learn before they can do their perfect duty as citizens for the protection of the home, state or nation.

Women must not be ashamed to stand for politics that spell reform rather than partisanship. Under such a regime things will succeed because they are right rather than because of the political wire-pulling methods of the past. Women must investigate all such questions as municipal nominations, direct legislation and the recall in cites; city government by commission and the so-called "business manager" plan of city government. Women should learn all about elections for such offices as city council and mayor, about the national government, the state government and all city and county ordinances. Equipped with this knowledge, women can become efficient factors in the land and bring about better conditions everywhere.

Mrs. Wayland Brown gave two readings which were very much appreciated.

Nomination of officers for the ensuing season was then proceeded with. The election of officers will take place at the meeting of the club which will be held two weeks hence. The following officers were nominated: President, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; first vice-president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; second vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Willisford; recording secretary, Mrs. O. W. Tarr and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Grosvenor and Mrs. Arthur Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Warren Roberts; member of the board, Mrs. C. E. Harlan and Mrs. Lee Clotworthy.

Some of the prize posters in connection with the approaching festival were on exhibition and were greatly admired. A committee meeting of the chairmen of all the committees in connection with the festival was held and many details in connection with that event were worked out.

GLENDALE STUDENTS RECEIVE DEGREES

In the list of 1000 degrees to be conferred by the University of California at the annual commencement exercises tomorrow, appear the names of Miss Anna Woodbury of Glendale who will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts (Letters), and Clarence Harold Smith, also of this city, who will have conferred upon him the degree of Bachelor of Science (College of Mining).

LADIES' MISSION CIRCLE

The May meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the First Baptist church will be held at the home of Mrs. Flory, 122 East Park avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The lesson will consist of a review of Mrs. Montgomery's book, "Following the Sunrise," and the review will be given by Miss Maude Salisbury. All the ladies of the church and congregation are invited.

PICNIC AT VERDUGO PARK

The woodland retreats of Verdugo Park resounded with the echoes of merry laughter and chatter Tuesday, when a number of Glendale people with Eastern friends as their guests hied them to this charming spot to enjoy a good old fashioned picnic. Mrs. Andrew Walker was the chaufferess who conducted the merry party to the shade of the grand old trees where all the delights of the picnic were indulged in. That most important feature of a successful picnic, an overflowing lunch basket, was present in large numbers and the delicious viands spread on the tables under the spreading oaks and sycamores were well seasoned with happy chatter and merry laughter and enjoyed to the "full." Those who will long remember this day in the woods are Mrs. C. M. Sparr and son, W. S. Sparr, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Maude Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. R. N. East of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Bronnenberg and daughter and sister of Anderson, Indiana, and Mrs. Major of Shelbyville, Ind.

AUTO SPEED FINES

SOUTHLAND CITIES RESENT THE RULING OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL WEBB

Much feeling has been created all over the state by the ruling of Attorney-General Webb that all fines imposed for violation of speed laws must be turned over to the treasurer of the county in which such violation occurs. It is the common opinion that such a ruling is questionable and should be questioned.

Meanwhile several cities have delayed turning over the money already collected from these fines. Pomona is a striking example. There about $100 a month has usually been collected from this source. This quite considerable sum has accumulated in the city treasury until now about $2000 is standing to the city's credit from these fines. To surrender this large sum to the county is not a course which appeals to the people of Pomona and they are willing to fight the matter out.

Glendale has adopted the course of remitting the fines when imposed and at the same time has relaxed the supervision of auto speed, so that fines are few and far between. The city feels that it is too much to ask it, with all its own needs to be attended to, to send this local money to help build roads in other quarters. The city needs the money for its own roads.

Nothing, however, has been decided officially as yet on this matter. City Attorney Evans is waiting the outcome of investigation that is being made of the matter. The question is likely to be discussed at the meeting of the City Attorneys' association in Los Angeles this evening. Meanwhile, the city attorney is keeping in close touch with what is going on throughout the state in connection with this matter.

Some of the Southland cities propose to resent the ruling of the attorney-general and give the autoists full swing to drive at any speed they please. Drivers would then be liable only for criminal action or damages in case of accident.

At San Gabriel there is talk of repealing all speed ordinances. Hermosa Beach has discharged its "speed cop" and the ordinance will be a dead letter. Just what action, if any, will be taken by the Alhambra board of trustees is not known.

The city attorney of Pasadena has advised the commissioners that the ruling will not stand in court, and recommends that the ordinances be enforced and fines retained by the city as formerly.

Mayor Selbach of El Monte says: "We will protect ourselves regardless of who receives the fines. The arrest of automobilists who exceed the speed limit of our city will continue as heretofore."

This chaotic condition of affairs will be hard on the autoist, for he will not know whether or not he will be "pinched" for speeding while driving through an incorporated city at a speed faster than the state law allows.

ST. MARGARETS ELECT OFFICERS

St. Margaret's Guild met at the home of the president, Miss Harriett M. Wells, 1504 West Broadway, on Tuesday evening for a business session and elected officers for the coming year. Miss Wells who has served so capably and so faithfully as president since the organization of the Guild two years ago and who is largely responsible for the flourishing condition of the society, declined the presidency for the third year with thanks. Miss Irene Read was elected to fill her place and chose as her vice-presidents, Miss Wells and Miss Cecelia Wilson. Miss Maizie McCann was elected secretary and Miss Arline Hallihan treasurer. The various committees have not yet been named.

St. Margaret's Guild is made up of the young women of St. Mark's Episcopal church and is one of the most thriving organizations of the city.

AT HOME WEEK

This is "At Home" week at the Columbus avenue school and the teachers are to be hostesses to the classes and friends of the school. There will be exercises on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and also an exhibit of the work of the pupils. In order that the fathers may see the work that has been done and meet the teachers, an evening meeting has been arranged for Friday at 8 p. m. A short musical program will be rendered and Mr Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, will give his very enjoyable talk on "The Achievements of Peace." Refreshments will be served and it is hoped that a large number of patrons and friends of the school will be interested in seeing what the teachers have accomplished the past year.

BETTER BABY TROPHIES

The chairman of the better baby contest wishes to correct a misstatement or rather an unfinished one, she made in Tuesday's Evening News. The babies in the first division from six to twelve months do dot score in the sweepstake trophy. They are in a class by themselves, with a silver loving cup to the highest scoring baby. Babies from thirteen to sixty months have a gold medal sweepstake trophy for boy and girl and a bronze medal in each of the four other divisions; also blue ribbons for all others.

On Saturday afternoon, May 29, at 2 o'clock the trophies will be awarded at the high school auditorium and special accommodations will be made for babies with nurses in attendance while speakers are making twenty-minute addresses on special child welfare.

The object of the contest is a popular yet scientific movement to insure better babies and a better race. It consists of entering, examining and awarding prizes to children of five years or less on exactly the same basic principles that are applied to live stock shows.

Mere beauty does not count. Physical and mental development only are considered. The better baby contest insures a better race of Americans because it teaches parents how to improve the physical condition of children. It arouses interest in the conservation of child life and health and in all forms of child welfare. It forges a connecting link between the parents and teachers, between the home and the scientific study of child life. It promotes civic interest in children of the community.

ELKS TO GIVE DANCES

The drill team of the Elks has made arrangements to hold regular Saturday night dances at Verdugo park. The dances will probably begin within two weeks, but ample notice will be given. Just at present the park is being put in order. The grounds are being decorated and the dance hall fixed up. The floor will be put in good shape and it is certain that many a pleasant evening will be spent there by the jolly crowds that usually associate themselves with the functions of the "Best People on Earth."

SENIORS INVESTIGATE ALLEYS

The senior history classes of the Glendale Union high school have been spending the past few days investigating alleys in the district. The general report has been good but one alley, viz., between Third street and Broadway east of Brand boulevard, which brought forth some unfavorable remarks.

Other important civic questions the history classes are discussing at the present time include the streets, the sewer system, the water and electric light and other public service systems.

It is said that the davits of the Lusitania were insufficiently manned when the boats were needed. This could be the truth, and not constitute a reflection on human courage. No plan is so perfect that an emergency may not disarrrange it.

WELFARE BANQUET

The welfare committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce invites the men of Glendale to attend a banquet at Masonic temple Saturday, May 15th, 1915, at 6:30 p. m. Informal. This banquet is being held for the purpose of bringing our business and professional men in closer touch with the civic and municipal affairs of Glendale. Proposed reorganization of Glendale as fifth class city and other live questions will be considered. Tickets will be on sale all day Thursday at the Bank of Glendale and at the First National bank, or at 1106 West Broadway. Seventy-five cents per plate.

FREDERICK BAKER,
Chairman.
ALBERT D. PEARCE,
Secretary.

INVESTIGATE WRECK

As a result of the accident at First and Aliso streets, Los Angeles, last Thursday when six persons were killed and thirty-four injured when a Santa Fe train crashed into a South Pasadena Pacific Electric car, an investigation has led to the arrest of four men, Flagman Jacob Ostrow and Motorman Robert Baker of the Pacific Electric, and Flagman Thomas J. Haas and Engineer Logan Wells of the Santa Fe. Members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and of the State Railroad Commission made extensive investigations and recommendations. The commission which these investigators represent will later make reports.

"THE PRINCE CHAP"

Miss Nannon L. Herren, well known as a dramatic reader in the East, will appear at the Masonic temple in Glendale tomorrow evening in "The Prince Chap." Miss Herren comes with splendid recommendations and her program promises to be especially fine. Mrs. J. H. Orth, Mrs. F. W. Pigg and Mr. J. H. Jordan will sing.

WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Nathan Cohen, the poor Russian Jew who has been without a country for more than two years, is to be sent to Russia. Unless he is refused admission to that country he may go to his old home there. Cohen went to South America some time ago and then decided to come to the United States. He was refused admission by the immigration authorities. He then was ordered back to South America. Lamport & Holt line officials had to place him aboard one of their vessels going back to the port from which he had come to the United states. Once there, however, he was refused admission.

The upshot is that he has traveled some 33,000 miles unable to find a bit of land on which he may step. The department of labor at Washington agreed that if he would put up a bond he would be permitted to land long enough to get a steamer for Russia. Jews in New York did this for him. But they are not certain the Russian government will not return him.

See America first is also a matter of safety first.

SESSION IS OVER

HUNDREDS OF BILLS RUSHED THROUGH LEGISLATURE WITHOUT DUE CONSIDERATION

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—The closing days of the legislative session were accompanied by all the rush and hurry that has marked every preceding session. Hundreds of bills on the file were rushed through without due consideration and hundreds of others were left in committee or on the file of unfinished business, but as one senator put it, "they will never be missed." Another legislator anxious to go home, remarked: "The state could have got along very nicely without this session. We were plugging along all right prior to the session and I believe might have continued so for the next two years."

This session has been remarkably free from any hint of boodle or graft and there has been no intimation of money having been used for the adoption or defeat of any measure. Politics, however, has been injected at frequent intervals, hardly a week having passed in which there has not been an acrimonious debate or reference to political conditions. The fiercest debate along these lines in both houses has been that over the senate bill calling a special election to vote on the non-partisan bill next fall.

Opponents of the bill doing away with all political parties in the state declared after the passage of the bill that they would submit it to referendum at the general election in 1916. Under this threat the administration forces offered a bill in the assembly authorizing and directing the governor to call a special election in October of this year submitting the proposition to the people.

This bill was rejected by the assembly as under the rule of the second half of the session it required a three-fourths vote to permit the introduction of the measure. The bill was then taken to the senate, where its introduction was accomplished. It was then sent to the assembly where, as a senate bill, only a bare majority was necessary. It was vehemently opposed on the ground that a special election would cost the state at least $700,000, and was unnecessary in face of the fact that some of the schools must close early on account of the lack of funds and a deficit in the state treasury, which had to be made up by increasing taxes twenty per cent on corporations. The administration forces claimed that the opponents must bear the responsibility of the expenses under their threat of a referendum. The bill passed both houses.

Senator Owens' bill prohibiting anyone from preventing persons from learning a skilled or useful trade passed the senate, but was shelved in the assembly by a re-reference to the judiciary committee, where it died. A determined fight was made against this bill by organized labor, and it was buried by the following vote:

Ayes—Anderson, Arnerich, Boude, Byrnes, Canepa, Collins, Downing, Ferguson, Gebhart, Gelder, Godsil, Harris, D. R. Hayes, J. J. Hayes, Kennedy, Kramer, J. J. McDonald, W. A. McDonald, McKnight, Mouser, Phelps, Phillips, Rigdon, Ryan, Salisbury, F. C. Scott, Sharkey, Sisson, Spengler, Widenmann, Wills, Wishard, H. W. Wright and T. M. Wright—34.

Noes—Bartlett, Boyce, Brown, H. Ward, M. B. Browne, Bruck, Chamberlin, R. G. Edwards, Hawson, Judson, Johnson, Kerr, Long, McCray, Meek, Pettis, Ream, Satterwhite, L. D. Scott, Schmitt, Shartel and Tabler—21.

On Friday the tax bill providing a revenue for the next two fiscal years was adopted. This provides a total of more than $35,000,000 for the expenses of the state for the two years coming.

The session has been noted for its attempt to regulate all forms of industry and professions; from providing individual towels and hot and cold water baths for hop pickers to the manner of practice of medicine and law, and all the intervening agriculture, horticulture, commercial, lumber, mining, insurance, manufacturing and other enterprises. Many of these bills were killed in committee and a few "got through." A number of bills were introduced seeking to create new commissions, but only a few passed, the most notable being McPherson's bill creating a state market commission to which the farmers, fruit growers, poultry raisers, dairymen, fishermen and others may send their products for sale on commission. The bill carries an appropriation of $25,000 to inaugurate the service and declares that the salary of the market commissioner of $5000 and of his assistants shall be paid in the same manner as other state officers, presumably from the

FRIGHTEN HOUSEWIFE

TWO TRAMPS MAKE DEMAND FOR FOOD AND THREATEN TO BURN THE HOUSE

Two bold tramps in search of an easy living came to the residence of J. H. Heinmiller Tuesday about noon and finding Mrs. Heinmiller alone, demanded that she get to work at once and prepare them a substantial meal. They opened their demands by saying that they wanted to buy tomato plants and having thus gained the lady's attention, they proceeded to make their further modest demands for bodily sustenance.

Mrs. Heinmiller was greatly terrified by the truculent tone and insolent and threatening demeanor of the hold-up men and she was at a loss as to what to do. "If you don't get a move on you quick and get that dinner for us," said the enterprising road agents, "we'll burn down your house." At the same time one of her assailants pulled out what appeared to be a revolver.

At that moment a man appeared coming along the street. "There," said Mrs. Heinmiller, "you'd better clear out; that's my husband coming along now." On hearing that the two chevaliers of industry ran out of the lot and showing a good double pair of heels, ran up the road in the direction of Verdugo road. According to last accounts they are running yet and Glendale is well rid of them.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS

Tuesday evening the Spanish and German classes of the Glendale Union high school presented their annual class plays. La Muela del Juicio as the Spanish play, with the following doing their respective parts, was very creditable: Gwendolen Claflin, Florence Wheeler, Margaret McPherson, Howard Stickney, Wayne Smith, Lyman Maxwell, Ernest Schuyler, Geo. Terrill and Geo. Dyer.

The German comedy, "Meistershaf," elicited much applause and hearty laughter from the audience. The following took splendid parts: Julia Ehmke, Mildred Lyon, Owen Dibbern, William Bode, Edith Watanen, Cecilia Peterson and Basil Boone. Both Miss Field and Miss Darsie are to be congratulated on the success they are having with the languages in the local school.

Music by the high school orchestra and songs, comically sung by the junior German class, added greatly to the evening's entertainment.

RAINFALL FOR MAY

According to statistics kept by Mr. H. E. Bartlett, the present month has had an unusually heavy rainfall. Of course we are all aware of the fact that the rain has apparently been out of the ordinary run of May precipitation, but it is better to be officically informed of the fact. Statistics for Glendale have only been kept since 1910, so that it is impossible to compare the present month's record with years before that period, but from other sources it is learned that the recent rainstorms have had no parallel since 1859.

In 1910 there was no rainfall in the month of May. In 1911 there was no rainfall in May. In 1912 the rainfall in May amounted to .22 of an inch. In 1913 it was .08; in 1914, .41; in 1915, 1.28.

BANK OF GLENDALE ELECTS

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Glendale was held Tuesday evening in the rooms of the bank and the following officers were elected for the coming year. All the old officers are represented in the present personnel:

President, F. H. Vesper; vice-president, C. M. Walton; cashier, Herman Nelson; assistant cashier, Miss M. G. Smith; directors, A. W. Beach, F. H. Vesper, J. F. McIntyre, C. M. Walton, Thos. H. Cooke, Frank Campbell and Herman Nelson.

TUESDAY JUNIOR CLUB

The Tuesday Junior club, one of the enterprising associations of young Glendale people, met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Cadd, 1601 West Colorado street. The meeting was constituted at the usual hour and an unusually interesting program was given, consisting of music, readings and games. The pink and green colors of the club formed the scheme of table decoration.

BOOSTER BUTTONS

Have you noticed those booster buttons? Everyone is wearing them. They stimulate the mind and help the cause. Get into line. Help the advancing city. If you want a button, call up Mrs. E. D. Yard, 368J, or Mrs. J. W. Usilton, 416W.

PUT YOURSELF IN HIS PLACE

When Solomon said, "The heart knoweth its own bitterness and a stranger intermeddleth not with its sorrow," he spoke out of the fullness of experience. The most outward seeming prosperity is often but the cloak for a condition that borders dangerously on poverty. The gayest laugh is often meant to cover up the deepest and most poignant grief.

It is related of Grimaldi, the most famous clown of the last century, that he was compelled to go on the stage one time and convulse the audience with his ludicrous grimaces immediately after he had heard the news of his wife's death. Such action, necessitated as it often is on the part of those who are independent in this world's goods, attracts attention, but the majority of humble mankind must perforce go on with work though the heart be breaking. The main wheel of their lives may be broken, but the little wheels must continue on still grinding out the daily bread.

Every man has his own troubles; though it is characteristic of so many of us to think that our own sorrows are the only griefs in the world. This spirit runs through business. A man will come into a place of business, to take an example with which we ought to be familiar, and order work to be done in a hurry, setting an impossible time limit on it—a limit which he would indignantly resent in connection with his own establishment.

In order to be just and fair to others, we must put ourselves in their places. We must continually remind ourselves that other people are human; that they have eyes, hands and all the other organs of the body, and that if you prick them they will bleed, and if you continue to prick them they will probably die.

Too many people have a tendency to think that others have no sorrows and no cares and that they alone of all the earth are running in bad luck. In fact, no one is exempt from the troubles of this world. It is the more to anyone's credit when he or she puts on a bold countenance and faces the inevitable trouble with a bold and smiling countenance.

Do not think for a moment that yours is the only evil fate in this world. There are few men who have passed middle life who cannot tell you how many times life has pressed hard on them until but a thread separated them from disaster of the worse kind. Life is hard. Loss of friends, of family, the necessity for preserving reputation, dread of starvation—how often as all that dreadful vista opened up before us have we heard a seductive voice that said:

"Come, lay thy sorrows on my bosom;
This will never close against thee
And my heart, though cold, cannot be colder much than man's—
Oh, come, come, let us die."

In truth, it needs greater courage to live than to perform some of the dashing deeds that are being done on the battlefields of Europe. In the one case the agony is over with soon and there is always the chance of an adequate reward; in the other, life is often one long, drawn-out agony demanding for its proper handling moral courage of the very highest order.

Put yourself in the other fellow's place and think that he, too, is merely human; flesh and bone; nerve and sinew; stretched out on the rack of this tough world even as you and I.

PUBLIC GOOD MANNERS

Human nature is truly a strange mixture; often a strange anomaly. Here is one individual. Mark him in his home. The sound of his tread on the doorstep is the signal for the flight of his children to some remote corner; while his wife stands almost paralyzed in the midst of whatever she may be doing. His first word is a rebuke; his second a fault-finding; to his distorted mind everything is wrong and he manages to make the little home circle which might be so full of joy a veritable vale of tears.

Such an individual is of treacherous nature. You never know how to take him. In public he is only civil to those whom he fears and stoops and crouches before him whom he believes to have power, or money, which is nearly the same thing. To his equals as he would call them he is barely civil; to his inferiors as he believes them to be he is grossly insulting. Such people would make the world what they have made their families if the world would let them.

Others are disagreeable and disobliging because they don't know any better. They never saw real politeness and they despise it when they do see it; just as the illiterate despise real learning because it is an eternal reproach to themselves. Meet such a character on the public street. Even should he know you he will barely greet you. He does not know how to take off his hat gracefully to a lady, so he does not take it off at all; or else makes some awkward attempt to lift it which usually ends in failure and a snarl instead of a greeting.

Many people are so full of their own sorrows that they pass along the public streets in almost perfect oblivion of those whom they meet. They have seen such manners at home in all probability. In homes where natural affections and feelings have been suppressed until like any other disused human faculty they have vanished altogether. If there are no manners in the home, there will be none in public.

Public manners should characterize every modern city that pretends to culture and progress. Real good manners that manifest themselves in thoughtfulness for others. That is what constitutes real manners. You are no longer self-conscious or selfish. You think of others. Try this. It will leaven the daily life, make things easier all round, and so smooth the road of municipal travel that there will not be a single creak in the wheels of our progress.

NEW BILLS ARE LEGION

Sacramento is silent once more; its legislative halls are closed; their tenants passed away to their homes. Southern California has been left very much out in the cold as far as appropriations are concerned; but there has been no lack of legislation. On the contrary, it is more than likely that the record of single bills will equal any previous record.

There are signs on every hand also that there is to be a strong fight made ere long against this annual swarm of bills introducing new legislation with which no one is able to keep pace; which encumber the statute books and give endless opportunity for litigation.

California would do much better to hire a few poets and let them make songs for the people. The state would be better off and the temper of the citizens would improve. At the same time a few leading principles of truth and honesty might be instilled into the general mind. Up to this moment the volume of undigested legislation that is annually let loose on the country too often breeds envy, malice, hatred and all uncharitableness.

GENERAL OUTLOOK

While predictions are being freely made that the British fleet with its allied assistants, the French vessels, will never be able to batter its way to Constantinople, it must be remembered that twice already the British performed that feat. In the year 1807 when Napoleon had urged Turkey into European war, just as the kaiser has urged it at the present moment, the British fleet sailed to within eight miles of the Turkish capital without much difficulty. Modern field guns make it a more difficult task today, but it is by no means impossible.

Many of us remember the day when echoes of British determination never to permit the Russians to occupy Constantinople drifted across the Atlantic. That was when Disraeli (Lord Beaconsfield) was prime minister of Great Britain and her dependencies. Thus ran the song:

"We don't want to fight; but by jingo if we do
We've got the ships; we've got the men;
We've got the money, too.
We've fought the bear before and while we're Britons true
The Russians shall not have Constantinople."

"Necessity makes us acquainted with strange bedfellows," says the proverb. Britain is all smiles now when Russian occupation of Constantinople is mentioned. Still it is always unadvisable to count your chickens before they are hatched. "It's a long, long way" to Constantinople just at present.

Orange growers are expecting a profitable crop this season. There has been no set-back and even if there had come a frost, "a killing frost," such as devastated the groves in 1912, the growers have been on the fighting line all season ready with ample preparations for such an emergency.

Like all parts of the British dominions, India is suffering from the war in Europe. While the war budget does not impose any additional taxation on the Indian taxpayer, it has compelled some drastic curtailments in expenditure which will result in the holding up of many important works in different parts of the country. The manner in which this policy is brought out in the subsidiary budgets shows that it will affect the various provinces in different ways. But in every way the poor Indian ryot will suffer. It is hard to be the under-dog in India or elsewhere.

Japan is pressing America hard out of the commercial field in China. Now that the clever little men of the Mikado's realm have forced China to acquiesce in their propositions for semi-control of vital factors in China's governmental system, the merchants and manufacturers of the United States will have a hard time getting their goods sold. The Japanese are not slow in learning the lessons of modern competition and they are actually going us one better in the race for the commercial hegemony of the Far East.

General Villa, according to some reports, was practically eliminated from the field of competition in Mexico a short while ago. Villa, however, refuses to be thus summarily disposed of. He has rounded up Obregon's forces and inflicted on them a humiliating defeat. Villa seems to have two faults that are serious in a war general—he lacks ambition and is honest; otherwise, he would have been dictator of the country ere now just as Diaz was in his time. Villa is quite as well educated a man as ever Diaz was, though so many writers insist on his illiteracy. He is handicapped, too, in any designs he might have on the presidency by his advocacy of the common people's cause. Diaz never cared for the peon. He believed the peon should be kept under. Villa would give every peon "three acres and a cow."

Los Angeles is teaching its school children to farm. Then thousand pupils of varying ages have gardens at home that are the direct result of their school work. This excellent teaching is likely to make Los Angeles and many another city of Southern California more beautiful than at present by reason of this intensified cultivation of a love of flowers and a knowledge of how to grow them. Some of these Los Angeles children have even managed to add to the family income by reason of vegetable growing. That is a practical outcome of this teaching to which not even the most bigoted opponent of modern school methods could object. Its value cannot be exaggerated.

Russia continues to bear testimony to the good effect of prohibition of the sale of vodka. The consumption of vodka has decreased in the city of Moscow from a monthly average of about 750,000 gallons to 2913 gallons. That brings the statistics up to October 1914. Since then the decrease has been continued. Labor is found to be more productive than before and both the quality and the quantity of the work produced have improved. In every way Russia has profited. There are some ways in which a czar is of use after all.

PERSONALS

LeRoy W. Bosserman transacted business in Pasadena Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen F. Frazier of 333 N. Maryland avenue was voted into membership of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the regular board meeting at the club rooms Tuesday afternoon.

Glen F. Wood, son of W. F. Wood, 500 East Third street, is visiting friends at Berkeley. While there he will visit the San Francisco exposition and make an exhaustive study of its many interesting features.

Mrs. Leroy W. Bosserman of 814 South Central avenue will attend a reception this afternoon from three to six at Pasadena. The entertainment is in honor of Mrs. Quayle and Mrs. Taylor, former Indiana residents.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Martin of Colorado boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. Myron L. Watson of West Second street motored over to Pasadena on Tuesday evening in the former's new Hupmobile, where they spent a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. A. L. Bryant, 421 South Jackson street, who recently returned from the Sister's hospital after a severe illness, is gradually getting better. She is now able to go about during certain portions of the day and is expected to gain health rapidly in her home atmosphere.

Mrs. A. Billington and daughters, Wanda and Francelia, in the company of a party of friends, left Glendale today for San Diego. They will spend a week in the southern city and will make a thorough study of the exposition. During their stay in San Diego the party will put up at the U. S. Grant hotel.

Mr. Harry W. Dehm, a prominent attorney of Los Angeles, was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Russell, 343 North Maryland avenue, Monday evening, afterward attending the session of the Elks, at which a very large contingent of brethren from Elks lodge No. 99 of Los Angeles were present.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Keleher entertained with a perfectly appointed full course dinner at their attractive home, 228 North Louise, on Tuesday evening. The house was a veritable bower of roses. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bossert of Hollywood, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilson, Mrs. Katherine Hunt and Miss Ida Jordan of Los Angeles. After dinner the guests were entertained with music and cards.

The Altar Guild of St. Mark's church met Tuesday with Mrs. Pierson. Mrs. Martha Morris, who has been the president for six years, resigned. Mrs. Phillips was elected in her place. Mrs. Morris was then made president emeritus or counsellor; Mrs. R. H. Wells, vice-president; Mrs. E. Brown, treasurer and secretary; Miss Harriett Wells resigning from the office she so ably filled. Three new members were voted in. Much important business was transacted.

DOG CAPTURED

Officer Hollenbeck found a stray hound wandering about the quoit club grounds in a forlorn condition this morning. The officer promptly "arrested" the animal and sent him to the pound. The animal is a species of foxhound without any very distinguishing marks and with no tag. Anyone anxious to acquire a "houn' of low degree" can have him by paying the license and expenses.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Prayer meeting this evening, 7:30. Arrangements have been made for beginning a series of practical studies on the gospel of John. This evening the first chapter will be considered. All are urged to bring their Bibles and be prepared to take some part in the meeting.

A LESSON IN POLITENESS

Armed with a subpoena a deputy sheriff went out to serve it on a very wealthy and extremely snobbish manufacturer, whom he met at the gate of the manufacturer's country home. The great man was in an automobile, accompanied by two ladies, and as the process server handed over the papers he politely raised his hat. The other assumed a democratic manner. "You don't need to take off your hat to me, young man," he said. "I took off my hat not to you sir," was the answer, "but to the ladies with you."—Argonaut.

PRISCILLA CLUB

This society did not meet as usual Tuesday. The regular meeting has been postponed for two weeks. At the next meeting a program of unusual interest may be expected.

Molasses and sulphur have gone into the discard. Science has no respect for ancient institutions.

AN EARLY LEGAL BLUNDER

Dyeing, or, at any rate, the madder root used in it, was the subject of one of the oddest of England's legislative blunders. In the reign of George III it was found necessary to regulate the trade in madder, and accordingly an act was passed for that purpose. Tests of its purity were ordained, and various regulations spread the length of the act to over sixty sections. But when it was finally passed into law it was found that madder was not once mentioned by name in it. In fact, those called upon to administer it had no official knowledge of what the act was talking about.—London Telegraph.

WONDERFUL EARTHWORMS

As Darwin long ago showed, the earthworm is the farmer's friend. Its burrows drain and aerate the soil, while the earth which has passed through its body is finely divided and is constantly being brought to the surface from lower levels. Its body is adapted to the burrowing habit. The pointed head end is devoid of feelers and eyes and the foot stumps are only represented by rows of bristles, which can be felt if the finger be passed along the body from back to front. There are no jaws, but the muscular kind of pump for taking in food. This includes plants and animals. It has a small gizzard, which contains many stones, and these are used instead of teeth to grind the food.—Chicago Herald.

TO HAVE HIGH JINKS

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club is looking forward with profound anticipation to their annual picnic at La Ramada on next Friday at noon. Following the luncheon, where wit and laughter will have full sway, an impromptu stunt program will take the place of the usual formal proceedings of this dignified section.

NORTH GLENDALE

Miss Alpha Clement of 1321 North Pacific avenue and her house guest, Miss Hazelle Hess of Lindsay, Cal., were week-end guests of friends of Miss Hess at the Hotel Alexandria.

Mrs. A. M. Hunt of 1201 Viola avenue is entertaining as her house guest, her sister, Mrs. A. B. Cudebec of Salt Lake City. Today Mrs. Hunt and her guest will enjoy the Orange Trolley trip, going to Redlands and Riverside, and will have luncheon at the Glenwood Mission Inn.

Mr. Nat Browne of 1620 Stocker street, entertained a party of friends with an informal tennis party last Sunday. The guests who enjoyed the day included Mr. Webb Holmes of Los Angeles, Mr. Geo. L. Sanderson a prominent attorney of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Atwater of Glendale, Mrs. Williams and Miss Mary Browne.

Mrs. James Wilson of 1636 Ruth street spent Monday in Los Angeles, where she was the guest of friends.

Mrs. E. H. Tatum of 1300 North Maryland avenue was one of the guests at a beautifully appointed luncheon given to the members of the Omicron Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority of the University of Southern California by Mrs. Will Armstrong today at her home, 1119 Coronado Terrace, Los Angeles. The occasion was very delightful for all present, the afternoon being given over to reminiscences of college days.

Miss Alpha Clement and house guest, Miss Hazelle Hess, of 1321 North Pacific avenue, were guests of Mrs. L. W. King and Mrs. W. Levee of the Bryson apartments in the Westlake district, Los Angeles, on a delightful motor trip Tuesday afternoon, the party stopping for tea at the Hotel Beverly. Upon their return to the city, the young people formed a theatre party at the Burbank in the evening, reporting a most delightful time.

Mrs. M. E. Browne of 908 Dryden street entertained as her house guest for the week-end, her sister, Mrs. E. J. Scott of South Hope street, Los Angeles.

AT THE SANITARIUM

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a lecture by Dr. Wood-Comstock on "Health, Beauty and Efficiency," followed by a practical demonstration. All Glendale ladies are cordially invited. 227t2

THE MISSION PLAY

John S. McGroarty, the author of the Mission Play, has secured La Valeria, the most famous Spanish dancer in the world, for the fiesta scene in the second act. Mr. McGroarty, desirous of making his fiesta scene the very best possible, has been negotiating with the Senorita La Valeria for more than a year.

The famous dancer made her appearance as a member of the Mission players in last Sunday's performance. The large audience, which crowded the theater, continued its applause long after the Angelus had sounded and the players had taken up the chant.

The fiesta scene has been rearranged. It now begins with the Indian dance, speeds up through the Sombrero Blanca and La Senorita dances and Spanish songs, until La Valeria, as Marguerita, comes laughing through the fiesta crowd and swirls into the steps of her famous dance. She brings the second act to its climax and represents the heighth of the Spanish period in California.

La Valeria, a Castilian by birth, first came to America from Spain under the management of Martin Beck of the Orpheum circuit. She became a headliner on that circuit and the Keith and Proctor in the East. When she appeared in New York City special invitational cards were gotten out by Keith. She also danced a year in the Winter Garden. Later she became a member of the Midnight Sons' company and was largely responsible for the unprecedented success of that play.

La Valeria has practically been dancing all her life. When she was sixteen years of age the king of Spain heard of her and ordered her to dance before him. She immediately became his favorite dancer.

We always like to hear the other fellow criticized.

EAGLE ROCK ITEMS

Miss Rickey, who has spent the past nine months with her sister, Mrs. George Howard of Eddy avenue, has returned to her home at Oskaloosa, Iowa.

A number of girls, including Miss Mildred Mason of this city, who attend U. S. C., spent the week-end at the beach.

Misses Nellie Burr and Sadie Peckam of Batavia, Illinois, were Sunday guests of Mrs. H. C. Daniels of Castle avenue.

Friends of the W. K. Cowan family of College View avenue will be pleased to know that their auto took a prize in the Floral parade at Los Angeles Monday. It was beautifully decked with roses and greenery.

Misses Opal Feaster, Mildred Wright and Olive Moe, who were delegates to the Tri-District Epworth League convention held at Boyle Heights last week, returned home Sunday evening. A number of other Eagle Rock Leaguers attended the meeting Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday.

A. A. House is putting in cement work for C. C. Miller this week.

This week Thursday evening, May 13, the Presbyterians will give a reception at the church in honor of the new pastor and his family. Rev. Creswell, his wife and children are new residents of this city, having rented a house on Kennilworth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. House and children spent the week-end visiting his mother and sisters of Los Angeles.

Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Social Aid of the M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Kingdon on Fairmont avenue.

The Women's Twentieth Century club is busy preparing for the Flower Show to be given in the very near future, perhaps the 14th and 15th of this month. As is usual, it will close with a grand ball on Saturday evening.

Occidental college will meet no university or college team that does not conform to the freshman rule. This was the statement made by Coach Joseph Pipal of the Tiger school. He says that that rule is made absolutely for the California schools and outside of the state our playing schools using freshmen will have no effect, but in California we want to raise the standard of athletics.

Mrs. Harriett Abernathy, mother of Mrs. George M. Daniels, passed her 87th birthday anniversary last week Tuesday, and celebrated it with a family dinner at her home on East Adams avenue. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. Daniels and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. George Daniels and son Burdette, all of Eagle Rock, and Mrs. Smith of Los Angeles.

Because of the disagreeable weather Dreamland has been kept closed but Mr. West hopes for better evenings soon and will open the "open air theatre" soon as weather conditions permit.

The Edwards & Wildey company has begun the erection of two more of those beautiful bungalows in Harvard Park.

The beautiful oak tree which for so long has stood in the center of the walk on South Central avenue, was cut down last week and a new block was added to the cement walk where the tree stood.

A TIME FOR REJOICING

"This evening the Rev. Mr. X will preach his farewell sermon and the choir will render a thanksgiving hymn especially composed for the occasion."

NOTICE OF LOCAL IMPROVEMENT

Public notice is hereby given that on the 3rd day of May, 1915, pursuant to instructions from the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale under Resolution of Intention Number 818 directing such report, the City Engineer of said city filed with the Clerk of the City Council a report in writing with specifications covering the planting of trees along a portion of Colorado Street, an estimate of the cost of said improvement and a diagram of said street, exhibiting all property fronting thereon, together with the amount of the proposed assessment.

Briefly described, the improvement contemplates planting trees of the Camphor and Catalina Cherry varieties at approximate intervals of 50 feet on Colorado Street from a point approximately 450 feet East of Verdugo Road to Glendale Avenue.

Reference is hereby made to said resolution of intention No. 818 and the above referred to report for further particulars of said work.

The Board of Trustees have fixed the time of hearing of protests against above referred to improvement at 8:00 p. m. Monday, the 17th day of May, 1915.

J. C. SHERER,
City Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale. 227t2

A resolution was adopted doing away with what is known as the bifurcated session, that is, the February recess between the first and second sessions. Experiences of this session have developed an excellent argument against the present dual session as follows: An apparently innocuous bill may be introduced during the first half of the session and sent broadcast throughout the state for the information of the voters during the February recess. On reconvening in March this bill may be amended in a manner harmful to many interests. The number and title remain the same and the average citizen having read the original bill during the recess will probably not read it again, or having no means of ascertaining that the bill has been amended unless he follows it carefully, will pay no further attention to it and it goes through. This was the case in many instances during the present session and only the most careful scrutiny and watchfulness prevented the passage of bills apparently harmless, but which would have worked injury to many agricultural and commercial interests.

Another proposition that was given some consideration was that of limiting the number of bills each member may introduce. This session started out with the proposition to hold the number down to a minimum and prevent the flood of bills and resolutions which totaled four thousand during the session of 1913. Many of those bills, however, were what is known as companion bills, the same bill being introduced in both houses. This practice was discouraged during this session with the result that of the total of about three thousand bills, amendments and resolutions introduced there were probably more original bills than there were in the session of 1913. There is every indication of a revolt against the system which permits any legislator to introduce any bill that may be offered by any individual. Hundreds of these bills are introduced by request by members who do not know the contents of the bill and often when it comes to passage or before committee must be supported by the proponents of the measure to explain what the bill means.

The session of 1915, however, has passed into history and is accompanied by little or no scandal, and the experience gained will probably be of use in future sessions.

URGED TO MARRY

The superintendent of the traction company in Portland urges the men under him to get married. He thereby raises a question or two. One of these is as to whether getting married is not such a purely personal matter that it ought to be left to the judgment of the contracting parties. Of course nobody will be so mean as to assume that the superintendent is conscious of other than altruistic motives; that, for instance, there lurks in some corner of his mind the thought that an employee with the responsibility of a family resting upon him would accept wages that might cause an individual more free to protest, perhaps even to strike. It may be the superintendent is so happy in his own domestic relations and so kind hearted that he wants all mankind to enjoy a similar felicity. It may be supposed also that he has a salary of sufficient magnitude to remove the consideration of the bread and butter far from him. This problem is ever near to many who work for wages. There is a pleasing old theory that two people can live as cheaply as one. It would be quite acceptable save for the circumstance that it is not true. As a matter of fact, for a wage earner to marry, particularly if on the payroll of a corporation, requires some courage, because it involves some risk. If the corporation, forgetting that it is supposed to be soulless, and feeling stirred by the kindlier emotions, desires to encourage matrimony, a better way to do this than by the giving of advice, would be to pay enough to make marriage reasonably possible. To be sure, men ought to marry, if they can, and have found the girl, and are able to care for her. Nevertheless to marry because of the counsels of an official superior, would be rash.—Redondo Reflex.

FOUND THE LAZIEST

A farmer had twenty employees on his farm and as none of them was energetic as the farmer thought he should be, he hit upon a plan which he believed would cure them of their lazy habits.

"Men," he said one morning, "I have a nice easy job for the laziest man on the farm. Will the laziest man step forward? Instantly nineteen of the men stepped forward.

"Why don't you step to the front with the rest?" inquired the farmer of the remaining one.

"Too much trouble," same the response.—Exchange.

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE

With every respect for the grand jury that the august body merits, and with such admiration as may justly reward the activity of the district attorney's office, it may be suggested that the efforts to do something to the police force of Los Angeles appear to have gone wrong.

Charges were brought against Chief Sebastian tending to prove him an example of total depravity. When the details were unfolded from the witness stand, they seemed so utterly silly as to cause amazement. Had they been sustained, Chief Sebastian would have been convicted not only of the implied depravity, but of a degree of lunacy so glaring as never before had escaped being clapped into an asylum.

The idea, so far as the public has been able to discern, was to hold the accused up to scorn as a knave and a fool, and let the public guess as to which role was the one in which he particularly excelled. Charge after charge was brought, only to fall flat in the presence of truth. But it is interesting to notice, that, if these charges were as groundless as now suspected, to formulate them, bring them, and give them a semblance of substance, required a riot of perjury and subornation of perjury, preceded by a conspiracy. Now, it is but fair to the ladies and gentlemen who present the aspect of being mixed in this mess, to give them a chance to step forth with clean hands if they are able, and unbedraggled skirts, if they may. In other words, the public does not care to pay for the trial of a trumped-up case, and when a case looks as though it were of this sort, the public, while glad to see the escape of the intended victim, would mourn deeply the escape of the precious souls that sought to make him a victim. So after all, there is something worth while that a grand jury and an acute prosecutor might find to do. Added to this is the attempted murder of Sebastian; really a matter so serious as to merit attention.—Long Beach Telegram.

WANTED TO BE POLITE

A young woman prominent in the social set of an Ohio town tells of a young man there who had not familiarized himself with the forms of polite correspondence to the fullest extent. When on one occasion he found it necessary to decline an invitation, he did so in the following terms:

"Mr. Henry Blank declines with pleasure Mrs. Wood's invitation for the nineteenth, and thanks her extremely for having given him the opportunity of doing so."

ELKS' STREET DANCE

One of the most unique forms of entertainment that the Elks have ever devised for the public will take place Saturday evening, May 15. The dance will be held in the street. Permission has been obtained from the city trustees to hold the terpsichore and festival on Broadway between Central and Brand.

The dance will continue all evening up to midnight and already indications point to a very large attendance. There will be a first-class band in attendance and lights and merriment should constitute a pleasing environment. A small charge will be made, as the entertainment while contributing to the general amusement of the city, will be in behalf of the Elks' candidate for queen of the Festival of Fruits and Flowers, Miss Barbara Mitchell.

Sometimes a miss is better than a hit—if you are shooting at your neighbor's dog.
